

Nec communications

Nec has just announced that, they're finishing on the development of the connection with mobile phones and virtual worlds, in this case Second life. It'll be possible to use your phone to control your character and input voice to it, thus making the game play simpler.